

Week of March 29

This week I have books with dinosaurs, a Pigeon that wants a puppy and an old lady who swallowed a chick! There are also new activities and video links. Next week is spring break!

Enjoy!

Books for this week:

There Was An Old Lady Who Swallowed A
Chick by Lucille Colandro

She swallowed a chick?? Why? What happens at the end of the story?

Here are some suggested activities to do with your child this week. Enjoy!

1. Make a tally chart of coins! Have your child sort a collection of coins. Then count each type of coin and make tally marks. For example, four pennies and make four tally marks.
2. Make an alphabet egg hunt! Put small letters or write a letter on paper and put one in each egg. Hide the eggs outside or in the house. When your child find all of the eggs, he/she can open the eggs and identify the letters.
3. Mystery Box: Take any empty box (cereal box, cracker box, etc...) and put an item in the box without your child seeing it. Then have your child reach in the box and feel the item without looking in the box. Have him/her describe what they feel. Is it soft? Bumpy? Small? Shape? Then have him or her guess what they think it is before taking it out of the box.
4. Read a book while eating a snack or meal. Talk about the book after reading
