

Week of May 3

This week, I have books about frogs that want to dance and books about growing flowers. There are also new links and activities.

Enjoy!

Books for this week:

Hop Jump by Ellen Stoll Walsh

What does Betsy the blue frog want to do in the story? What happens at the end of the story?

Here are some suggested activities to do with your child this week. Enjoy!

1. Tin foil painting! Put a small amount of dish soap in a cup of paint. Use a cotton swab or small paintbrush and have your child paint on foil. How is this different than painting on paper?
2. Draw a hopscotch outside with chalk and play hopscotch! Have your child identify the numbers.
3. Letter hunt: Give your child a letter and see if he/she can find that letter in print around the house. You can also give your child a letter sound. Talk about the letter, the sound it makes and words that start with that letter.
4. Find a collection of items such as legos or pom poms. Have your child sort the items. Can they be sorted by more than one attribute? For example, a pile of big yellow legos and a pile of small yellow legos.
5. Talk about things that you would find outside compared to items you find inside.
